

22 October 2020

Website Personal Data Policy

What information we collect from you

In general, our website may receive and store information from website visitors. These may include the information that can be identified as “personal information”, such as your first and last name, telephone number, postal and email addresses. Users have the rights of not providing information to our website. But in general, specific information are required for the use of enquiry for initiating any transactions on our website.

How we use your information

The information used (such as name, company name, contacts) are for the purpose of communicating, responding, completing, confirming, following up with, improving and measuring statistics in relation to enquiry on our website. We may also use other information for the following general purposes in providing users information as requested; given confirmations and updates; to communicate and respond to users; to measure interest in and improvements of our services; to notify external parties about upcoming events that may be of interest; to otherwise customize user's experience with this website; to solicit information; to prevent potentially prohibited or illegal activities and as otherwise described at the point(s) of collection.